Description

Sitting along a quiet side street in the sought-after South of Broad neighborhood, 23 Elliott Street offers the charm of an 18th-century-style exterior with all the modern conveniences of being recently built. This elegant 4-bedroom, 4.5-bathroom home spans 3,700 square feet and exudes timeless beauty with its Carolina copper gas lanterns, mahogany windows, and heartwood pine flooring. A gas fireplace anchors the living room, creating a uniquely welcoming space for entertaining or a cozy place to relax. The gourmet kitchen, with chic French doors, opens up to the idyllic enclosed courtyard, lush garden, and pool with a heated spa. An additional sitting room or office makes a tranquil retreat showcasing built-in bookshelves and another gas fireplace. The primary ensuite bedroom creates a scenic backdrop with French doors leading to a Juliet balcony. Both bedrooms on the third floor create restful oases with their ensuite baths. The loft-style ensuite bedroom on the fourth floor opens to a rooftop deck with breathtaking views of St. Michael's Church and the Charleston skyline. This property is in an X-flood zone and offers off-street parking for two cars as well as access to a basement. This exceptional home offers the rare opportunity to enjoy modern luxury in a historic setting.
